

SAYS RECORDS SHOW NEED OF AUTOMOBILE

Conkling Compares Methods of Collecting Now and Days
When Shingle Held Office

Supervisor Shingle's statement before the board of supervisors last night that "in the old days" the treasurer traveled by train and by horse and buggy caused some "old day" figures to be resurrected showing the amount collected by Shingle, when he was treasurer, by those methods.

"The city treasurer's office has collected more money in license fees since I took office a few months ago than Mr. Shingle collected in either of the two years he was city treasurer," City Treasurer Conkling said today.

The trouble started when Conkling made a request for $550 for the purchase of an automobile to enable him to go after the delinquent licensees and also to be used in Conkling's monthly trip around the island paying off the city employees in the outside districts. Shingle balked at granting the request and reminded the board that "in the old days" the city treasurer traveled by train and by horse and buggy and at a much less cost than by automobile.

Shingle said that it would be a waste of money to get the treasurer, an automobile to collect license fees, as he said, the treasurer only collected at a certain time of the year and he argued that during the rest of the time the machine would be idle.

"Is that so?" Conkling said today. "Well, now, that might have been the practice during Mr. Shingle's term as county treasurer, but it doesn't go any more. I started right in when I took office to get after these people who don't pay their licenses and I intend to keep right on the year round. As a result I have collected in the few months I have been in office $34,000. Compare this with the $50,000 collected in the entire year by Mr. Shingle in 1913, when he was treasurer, and the $24,000 collected by him in 1912.

"What is more I intend to collect $35,000 more before the year is over, a total of $129,000 for the year, if the supervisors will be so kind as to give me a $550 automobile to get around with.

"Perhaps if I had asked for a $3000 car instead of a $550 machine I might have got it readily. I need it, outside of collecting license fees, to pay off the county employees in the outside districts."

CURRAN IS EAGER TO HAVE ASSAULT CASE TRIED RIGHT AWAY

"I am perfectly willing that this case be tried right now. I know whether I am guilty or not, and I am not guilty."

So spoke James P. Curran when he was arraigned in Circuit Judge Ashford's court this morning on a charge of having assaulted James Terry, a drydock foreman at Pearl City, at Hotel and Nuuuua streets Saturday night. He was indicted by the territorial grand jury yesterday.

The trial of the case will begin early in September. Curran's bond has been fixed at $1000. Asked if he could secure bond, Curran replied that he was not sure.

"If I were in San Francisco I could get it in a minute, even if it were $100,000," he told the court.

As a result of an operation on his skull, Matt Bryan, D. of Athol, Ky., has been reclaimed from idleness.

military with the affairs of the Hawaiian organization will make him a valuable man for the territory."

Col. Jones received the following letter from Governor Pinkham this morning:

"Executive Chamber,
Honolulu, Hawaii,
August 12, 1915.
"Col. J. W. Jones,
Adjutant General, National Guard
of Hawaii,
Honolulu, T. H.

"Sir:
"Your term of service having expired by law, I beg to inform you that you will be succeeded by Colonel Samuel I. Johnson, to whom you will please turn over all matters and material pertinent to the office.

"Colonel Johnson's commission will go into effect at 12 o'clock noon, Friday, the thirteenth day of August.

"As governor, I recognize the valuable service you have rendered the government of this territory for very many years and also to the National Guard of Hawaii.

"The citizens will not forget nor will the governor, your devotion to strengthening the hands of government, both local and national.

"Very sincerely,
"LUCIUS E. PINKHAM, Governor, Commander-in-Chief of the National Guard of Hawaii."

There were no ceremonies of transfer at noon. Col. Jones was not in his office at that hour, having left the keys with the chief clerk. Previous to going, however, he had expressed his readiness to assist for the next few days in any matters where he may be of aid to the new regime.

The brief notice given Col. Jones of his successor's accession to the office aroused some comment but Col. Jones declined to discuss it. He says that whatever may be the circumstances under which he is supplanted, he has the warmest feeling for the National Guard of Hawaii and its work.

Col. Jones said, when asked for a statement:

"I desire to say this: After having given 22 years for the national guard in keeping it together and trying to increase its efficiency, I will always take an interest in its welfare and improvement, and sincerely hope that it will attain the highest standard and keep that standard at all times. In regard to the officers and the enlisted personnel of the guard, I leave them with regret, having only been able to keep the guard together with their active assistance and cooperation. I hope that all members of the guard, whether officers or enlisted men, will remain with the organization and give their utmost endeavors to keeping it on the highest plane of efficiency at all times and I believe it is a duty they not only owe to themselves and their families, but a duty they owe as members of the body politic and to the federal government itself."

MORRISSEE CHARGED WITH HAVING OPENED NUMBER OF LETTERS

C. B. Morrissee alias C. B. Morris, who is connected with a local automobile shop, was arrested by Deputy Marshal Otto Heine yesterday afternoon on a charge of having violated section 194 of the penal code. It is alleged in the complaint that Morrissee, or Morris, opened a number of letters and appropriated the contents for his own use.

The complaint against Morrissee was made by Postmaster William F. Young, U. S. Commissioner George S. Curry this morning fixed the defendant's bond at $500, but as he was unable to furnish it, he was remanded to custody. A hearing of the case was to be had this afternoon.

MRS. FRANCIS DAY has cabled to friends in this city that she will not arrive in Honolulu in the steamer Matsonia August 17, as she had planned and that she has delayed her trip four weeks.

The defendant's bond was fixed at $1000. Ferguson was indicted by the territorial grand jury yesterday. It is alleged he "carved up" a man named Buck in an affair at Iwilei about six weeks ago.

Attorney Frank E. Thompson: Every member of the Bar Association will rejoice at this news.

Attorney A. L. C. Atkinson: That's the best news we've heard in a long time.

City Treasurer Conkling: With Alec Robertson reappointed and Sam Johnson heading the national guard, I guess the country's safe.

Circuit Judge Ashford: I supported Chief Justice Robertson enthusiastically and sincerely in the Bar Association, and I am glad that he has been reappointed. I am especially glad of this evidence that the Democratic administration is giving to its enemies that it is enthusiastic and broad enough to ignore the consideration of party politics in the making of judicial appointments where such a course appears desirable and expedient in order to continue or promote the efficiency of the judiciary. Nevertheless, I believe in the party in power having at least a majority of its own partisans on the bench, providing always that suitable material can be found among the members of its own party for that purpose. It will be readily observed that a further application of this doctrine might well include the reappointment of William L. Whitney.

Circuit Judge Whitney: That Chief Justice Robertson has been reappointed is the best piece of news that has come over the waters in two years.

John Marcellino: The attorney-general could not have made a better choice. It is about time that they got next to themselves in Washington, D. C.

Clerk John A. Dominis: I am certainly glad to hear that Chief Justice Robertson has been reappointed. The attorney-general could not have chosen a better man for the position.

Clerk "Johnny" Thompson: Being clerk of the supreme court, I should not make any statement in this matter. But take a look at this smile on my face and you will know how glad I am.

Malcolm A. Franklin: The fact that Chief Justice Robertson is not a Democrat is the only blemish I find on his character. However, I can overlook that, because if he were a Democrat he would be a perfect character. This seems never to be found. I rejoice with him in his reappointment and I congratulate the people of Hawaii.

I wrote several letters to the attorney-general endorsing Judge Robertson and I am extremely glad to hear this news. This was a matter in which party politics did not enter with me.

Judge Henry E. Cooper: Of course I am glad that Chief Justice Robertson has been reappointed to the bench. It is more than we had really dared hope for.

Judge A. D. Larnach: I am glad that Chief Justice Robertson has been reappointed, as no doubt are 99 99-100 per cent of the bar here in Hawaii.

E. W. Sutton: I am glad for myself, for Judge Robertson and for the territory. The territory is to be congratulated even more than Judge Robertson himself.

"Jack" Lucas: I am glad that the attorney-general has realized that in Chief Justice Robertson he has a man who is entirely worthy of the position.

Judge Sanford B. Dole: I am very glad to hear of Judge Robertson's reappointment. It is somewhat of a relief.

Judge Charles F. Clemons: I concur in what Judge Dole says. We are all glad of the reappointment of Chief Justice Robertson.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Federal court today adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Circuit Judge Ashford's court today was adjourned until Friday morning, August 20, at 9 o'clock.

The final accounts of the Trent Trust Company, executor of the estate of Victor Fagerroos, were approved by Circuit Judge Whitney and the executor discharged today.

A petition for adjudication in bankruptcy, filed in federal court by T. Urtake, was granted today by Judge Sanford B. Dole. The case has been referred to J. G. Pratt, referee.

The next meeting of the territorial grand jury probably will be on Thursday afternoon, August 26. On that day the jury will further investigate the alleged riot at the recent annual election of the Korean National Association and the cases of two alleged Korean embezzlers, according to the district attorney's office.

Yesterday was a gladsome day for the local federal court officials. Marshal J. J. Smiddy, who arrived in the Ventura after a business trip to Australia and Samoa, paid them off. The marshal signed 55 checks; the majority of which were for witness fees. The officials usually get paid the first of each month, but as Marshal Smiddy was absent August 1, the best they could do was sit around and wait for his return. He was only 12 days late at that.

ARE SELECTING SITES FOR SCHOOL HOUSES

With a view to selecting sites for new school buildings, Henry W. Kinney, superintendent of public instruction, and Building Inspector Freitas are visiting Waihae, Waipahu, Pearl City and Watertown today. The school house at Watertown at present is located on land owned by the Bishop estate, and the lease will expire within a few months. The estate now is improving its holdings there and a proposed road will run directly through the present school site. Through the efforts of Land Commissioner Joshua Tucker the department has secured about an acre of ground some 600 feet from the present site, and the school building will be moved to this place.
